

Steve Simmie

Vice President, Engineering & Operations

- ☞ Steve is currently the Vice President, Engineering and Operations, responsible for Engineering and Operational activities including planning, design, installation and maintenance of Saint John Energy's distribution system. Steve is also responsible for the ongoing continual improvement of the utilities corporate safety program.
- ☞ Steve currently has over 30 years' of service with Saint John Energy. Although the majority of this period has been with the Operational group, he has demonstrated capabilities in project management, asset management, negotiations and engineering.
- ☞ Prior to his employment with Saint John Energy, Steve worked in the electric utility distribution construction field throughout the province.

